

Your article for your reputation

Use your publication beyond the journal's month of publication to make sure your results are available for

- the market
- your business partners
- your customers
- your employees

The following options are not only ideal means of enhancing your reputation as an author. They can also be used as interesting advertising media for your company.

Your options:

- Electronic usage (abstract/link)
- Offprints (including PDF for your homepage)
- Run-ons
- Multiple copies of a journal

▪ Electronic usage

Abstract (free of charge): You can integrate brief information about your article on your homepage and include a link to the full text as a PDF file under Wiley InterScience.

▪ Offprints

Your article is reprinted on a certain date and you have the chance to design a special cover for it. Ordering an offprint includes a corresponding PDF for your homepage.

Best buy!

▪ Run-ons

Your article is printed during the production of the journal and is therefore identical with the pages in the issue.

▪ Multiple copies of a journal

You can order additional copies of the journal in which your article was published.

The rights of use (copyright) of the publishers must be observed.

▪ Electronic usage

Abstract (free of charge): A reference on your homepage in the form of a brief text with a link to the article in Wiley InterScience is free of charge. The link to the article is by way of a DOI (Digital Object Identifier = worldwide primary key for an article). Since January 2006, the DOI has been printed in the journal at the start of every specialist theme.

You can generate the link yourself as follows: http://dx.doi.org/... followed by the individual DOI of the article. Example: http://dx.doi.org/10.1002/stab.200610001. You can use the cut & paste function to insert the abstract text printed in Wiley InterScience. Alternatively, we can send you a link and abstract by e-mail.
